INTRODUCTION

Currently, passenger travel by plane It is important to transportation in Thailand. Extremely popular and increasingly popular because traveling by plane saves time. In traveling, there are many problems. There is also the convenience of airline services in a format of variety (Aviation office Civilian of Thailand The Civil Aviation Authority of Thailand). Nowadays there are many airlines that provide passenger air transportation services which has both lines Fly with full service (Full Service Airlines) and low-cost airlines or airlines. Low cost airline that offer both types of service. There is often a pattern. Flight routes both domestic and international that are similar but have different factors such as price and service. From the above factors, low cost airlines are very popular. This is a result of Ticket prices are relatively cheap and there are a variety of marketing promotions and reach more consumers Civil Aviation Authority of Thailand. (2022).

However, in 2022, Thailand's aviation business is recovering slowly, supported by the economic situation and world trade that is gradually recovering Development of a vaccine to prevent COVID-19 infection There is progress and people get vaccinated This has resulted in the gradual opening of international borders, supporting demand for airline travel on both domestic and international routes. However, the air transport business may have an increased investment burden. Safety criteria of aviation business focus on investment to improve the aviation safety in the post-crisis period. As a result, entrepreneurs who have limited capital Number of flights and shares Markets on less-flight routes may face a liquidity crisis and be unable to continue operating. At present, Thailand's aviation business must prepare for the opening of the country. To supports tourists who will travel to Thailand increasing the airport's carrying capacity Airport infrastructure by traveling in a new context. Important things that are emerging for air travel aside from safety and security, the new thing that must be taken into consideration is "hygiene". (Health) and in the future, Thailand's aviation business must prepare to support small aircraft or drones, and drones will be another technology to drive structural change. The System of domestic aviation business knowing the direction and measures to support the aviation business can recover quickly after the outbreak of the COVID-19 virus. A new aviation context in the future under a new way of life traveling can encourage Thai aviation to return to continuous growth. The objective is to present what the aviation business in Thailand must do at present. Including what will happen to the aviation business in the future, challenges and opportunities for the aviation business in Thailand After the crisis of the spread of the COVID-19 virus disease.

When a business is affected by an external environment that cannot be controlled What businesses must do is adapt to the changing environment in order to survive. CONCLUSION AND FUTURE WORK

1. From analyzing the relationship between digital marketing strategies and airline operations in Thailand It was found that most consumers who use the service will have confidence in and use the service regarding the reputation and image of the airline organization. It is consistent with the research of Hathaichanok Wongcharoenphon (2022), studying digital marketing that affects customer satisfaction and loyalty. The level of satisfaction and overall loyalty of customers towards the store is at a high level. They are satisfied with the service. Food quality and value received as for customer loyalty, they tell others or praise the store through various channels, including Digital media creates new customers and creates more income. For digital marketing, customers have access to purchasing decisions and cause consumers to repeat purchases or tell others at a high level Moreover, digital marketing has both direct and indirect relationships with customer loyalty through the transmission variable, namely customer satisfaction.

Research Suggestions

Suggestions from research

1. From the analysis of the relationship between digital marketing strategies and airline operations, it was found that most service users use services from individuals or groups of people in well-known organizations. Therefore, community brands or products find that sales are lower than well-known brands. Because marketing promotion is holistic, promotional programs should be organized only for brands that are start-up businesses and can develop themselves to become famous at a certain level in the future.

2. Development of marketing communications that are currently in the traditional form and method, which makes organizing each promotional event more this makes it difficult to see the difference, which causes consumers to make decisions to purchase products and services that are reduced. Therefore, the Shopee application will have to adjust its strategy and create interest that will impress consumers who come to see it for the first time and regular consumers.

Suggestions for next research

Should develop marketing content strategies to promote products that are not necessarily necessary It is necessary for consumers who come to see it for the first time, which is suitable for people who come to view products in the application and have not yet made a decision to purchase or have a need for the product and decide to buy that product.
